Seven Sisters and Seven Brothers Apostolates Prayer Proposal

The above prayer initiative being rolled out across the Derry Diocese by Bishop Donal. It is hoped that each parish within the diocese would have X7 women and X7 men – each of whom would work in partnership (X1 man X1 woman) – on a specific day of the week – to pray and fast for their priest and parish.

Each day of the week must be covered hence the need for X7 men and women. Sometimes it works for a husband and wife or some other family member to choose the same day to pray and fast in tandem.

The idea is that the woman will offer an hour of prayer (any hour of her choosing) – preferably in the chapel if possible - for this intention with the man doing a day of fasting of whatever is manageable for him - offering this for the same intention. The fasting could be from social media, sweet treats etc. if he needs to be able to eat for strength at work.

There will be a prayer booklet which can be used to aid the prayer element of the initiative, or you can do your own prayer.

The initial commitment is for a year but in countries where this has already been rolled out, the groups involved have been happy to progress beyond the year as they have seen the fruits of their efforts.

Bishop Donal hopes to launch the Seven Sisters and Seven Brothers Apostolates prayer initiative on Ash Wednesday, although this is still to be confirmed. It is also hoped that there will also be Deanery launches to distribute the prayer booklets.

Please let us know if you would undertake this noble task.
